

KILLER DILLINGER BROKE PRISON THIS MORNING

DR. WYNEKOOP
COLLAPSED IN COURT TODAYRecovered Enough To Permit Completion of Examination

Criminal Courts Building, Chicago, March 3.—(AP)—Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop today completed her appearance as a witness in her own behalf and the celebrated trial was adjourned until Monday morning.

Charged with the slaying of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, Dr. Alice collapsed while being cross-examined by the prosecution, and the trial recessed for almost half an hour until she recovered.

Dr. Wynekoop became hysterical as she was being taken back through a passageway to the county jail, clutching the arm of her daughter, Dr. Catherine, she screamed convulsively, then dropped her head back against the rest of her wheel chair. The jail physician administered medicine to her and she became quiet.

Grilling Examination
The collapse came after the ashen-faced witness had been subjected to half an hour of grilling by Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty on an interview he had with her a few hours after she had made her statement admitting firing a bullet into the body of her daughter-in-law, Rheta.

Gasp for air, Dr. Wynekoop signaled to the judge, who ordered all windows opened. A bailiff rushed up with a pillow, upon which she laid her face. Even the ashen grayness of her face had gone, and it had become a deathly white. She rested for a few minutes, her eyes closed and her chest heaving, while bailiffs conducted the jury from the room.

The wheel chair was brought in, and Dr. Wynekoop was trundled into the judge's chambers and permitted to recline on the judge's couch. Her daughter, Dr. Catherine, who had been hovering over her anxiously, and Dr. Francis W. McNamara, the jail physician administered.

Recovered Soon
After about 30 minutes, she asserted that she was able to carry on, and she was wheeled back into the courtroom and lifted onto the stand. The jury was called back, and court was re-convened.

Dr. Wynekoop answered many of the Prosecutor's questions with a listless "I don't remember," or "I wasn't there, so I don't know." The Prosecutor was reading from the typed statement of his interview with Dr. Wynekoop a few hours after she had admitted firing the shot. The questions pertained to the first statement, later repudiated, and took Dr. Wynekoop through the scene step by step.

"Where you asked, 'Did you have your hands on Rheta's pulse while making the examination?' and did you reply no, I needed both hands for the examination?" asked Dougherty.

"I don't remember," answered the witness.

Where the questions pertained to queries previously answered, Dr. Wynekoop answered that she had no recollection of the interrogation. When they pertained directly to the events, she replied that she didn't know, as she was not there when Rheta died.

Judge Gentzel of Chicago is Called
Chicago, March 3.—(AP)—Superior Court Judge Robert E. Gentzel, 58, died this morning at his home. The cause of death was said by members of his household to be heart disease.

If all flies lived their allotted span, from one female in five seasons there would be a family of descendants requiring a string of 37 figures to number them.

Four Men Burned to Death, Dozen
People Injured, in Destruction of Worcester, Mass., Hotel This Morn

Worcester, Mass., Mar. 3.—(AP)—Four men were burned to death and a dozen people injured in a fire which destroyed the Hotel Pleasant this morning with a loss of $100,000.

The dead: William Donovan, 66. Albert F. Gaudette, a partial cripple. Edward F. O'Brien, 42. George Rowe, 60, Providence R. I.

At least ten persons were saved by firemen or escaped down rope ladders. Many of those rescued were elderly.

They were carried down swaying ladders while other victims leaped from windows screaming for their turn.

News Gathered in Dixon During Day

LABOR BOARD MEET

There will be a meeting of the Dixon Labor League at the Woodman Hall Monday evening at 7:30. All members in good standing are requested to be present.

CANDIDATE COMING

John H. Stelle of McLeansboro, Ill., Democratic candidate for the office of State Treasurer, will be in Dixon Monday. A meeting has been called to be held in the city hall at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at which time the candidate will be the speaker, and all who are interested are invited to attend.

INQUEST HELD

Coroner Frank M. Banker conducted an inquest over the remains of Donald Milo, four year old Dixon state hospital patient at the Staples mortuary yesterday afternoon. The jury returned a verdict finding that death was due to lobar pneumonia, the congestion having been found when a post mortem examination of the body was conducted by institution physicians.

JUDGE RETURNS

Judge Harry Edwards returned home last evening from Mt. Vernon where he has been attending the sessions of the appellate court of the southern Illinois district of which he is a member. Judge Edwards will go to Mt. Carroll Monday morning where he will preside in the Carroll county Circuit Court next week. Mrs. Anna Moore of this city will report the court proceedings.

BRIDGE DISALLOWED

The proposed construction of a new bridge across Rock river to replace the present Galena avenue structure, application for which was made several weeks ago in the city's Public Works Administration program, has been turned down, it was announced today. Engineers who came to Dixon to inspect the present bridge declared it safe for travel. The estimated cost of a new bridge was $188,000.

KIPKE AT D. H. S.

Harry G. Kipke, head football coach at the University of Michigan, will arrive in Dixon Monday noon for a brief visit. In the afternoon he will address the student body of the Dixon high school in the gymnasium. Monday evening.

U. S. TREASURY
STABILIZATION
FUND IS INTACTTwo Billion Dollar
Deficit is Also Reported Today

Washington, March 3.—(AP)—The Treasury, in its second month of the revalued, managed dollar, operated today with its $2,000,000,000 currency stabilization fund still intact.

For the first time since January, however, it had a deficit—minus $2,352,170,000—but this was by reason of a bookkeeping change that appeared in yesterday's monthly-end Treasury statement.

The stabilization fund came out of the $2,800,000,000 profit on dollar devaluation. Treasury officials said it was not tapped for any of the $300,000,000 in foreign gold bought by the government.

The accounting change shifted the devaluation profit from general receipts to a separate classification with trust and contributed funds. The receipts figure fell from more than $2,800,000,000 to $1,885,601,000. The move was described as giving a more accurate indication of the Treasury's condition.

Yesterday's statement showed the first check in the rate of spending since last July. Last month's expenditures were $635,231,000 and January's $980,579,000. Of these, emergency expenditures accounted for $447,323,000 and $605,000,000 respectively.

The fire origin yet undetermined, started in an elevator well. For a time it menaced a church, within 50 feet of it, and an apartment block, separated from it only by a three foot alley.

Donovan was first seen dashing through the first floor lobby, his clothing all ablaze. A man ahead of him inadvertently slammed the outside door as he fled, and trapped Donovan just inside the door. Ben Kaplan, a Worcester Telegram copy-reader, passing by, kicked in the glass, dragged the pained man through, wrapped him in an overcoat and rolled him in the wet gutter.

The bodies were recovered in their room about three hours after the fire started.

OUTLAW KILLED
BY ARKANSAS
SHERIFF TODAY

Ford Bradshaw, Long
Wanted: Lost Fight
With Officer

Oklahoma City, Mar. 3.—(AP)—Ford Bradshaw, long-sought outlaw, was the hoodlum slain last night in a road house near Fort Smith, Ark., the State Bureau of Criminal Identification announced today after a check of fingerprints.

Fort Smith, Ark., Mar. 3.—(AP)—Officers early today were unable to identify as Clyde Barrow, a man slain in a road house near here late last night after fingerprints of the notorious southwestern desperado had been compared with those of the dead man.

While officers continued questioning of the slain man's 25-year-old woman companion, who gave her name as Marie Fields of Carlsbad, Mo., fingerprints of the victim were rushed to Oklahoma City in an effort to identify him. He was about 26 years old.

The man at first suspected of being Barrow was shot to death last night by Deputy Sheriff Bill Harper in a roadhouse four miles from here just over the Oklahoma state line. The shooting occurred when the man struck at Harper after officers had visited the place and disarmed the gunman who had terrorized the road house for three hours. Harper is proprietor of the road house.

Found Ammunition

A revolver, 50 rounds of ammunition and a bullet proof vest were taken from the dead man. Officers reported finding $300 or $400 in his wallet.

The woman said they were from Carlsbad. Their coupe carried Oklahoma license plates, while a set of Missouri plates also were found in the car. Ammunition was found in a compartment. Four suit cases were in the automobile.

Officers quoted the woman as saying after the slaying: "The man is plenty hot. Wait until you fingerprint him. He'll be plenty wanted."

TEACHERS SEE HORNER

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 3.—(AP)—A delegation of fifteen hundred Chicago school teachers called on Governor Horner this afternoon and was promised that his influence would be exerted to get prompt special session action in raising emergency funds.

BEAUTIFICATION
COUNTY PLANNED

Route 70 in Eastern
Part of Lee Co.
to be First

J. R. McDaniel of this city, supervising engineer in charge of state highway department projects under the Civil Works Administration, has made application for the beautifying of many of the state routes in Dixon and Lee county. The outstanding project has been outlined for state highway, route 70 in the east end of the county, where approximately 20 miles is to be beautified this spring. Minor projects are also outlined for state routes 2 and 6, but these, it is said will be on a much smaller scale than that proposed in the east end of Lee county.

It is expected that approximately 1,000 trees will be set out on route 70 between Rochelle and Mendota, a 20 mile stretch of fine paving where few trees and no shrubbery are to be found. Elms and maples will be the chief varieties of trees to be used and these will come from nurseries at Elmhurst, Rockford and Princeton.

Considerable shrubbery is also to be planted along the state routes in Lee county and the greater amount of this will be taken from the nursery at the Dixon state hospital property. Work on the extensive planting program will not be started until April, Mr. McDaniel stated today.

SABOTAGE TALK
"ABSURD" SAYS
WAR SECRETARY

While House Committee
Prepares to Subpoena
Him to Testify

Washington, March 3.—(AP)—Sinister rumors of sabotage against the flying of the airmail by Army planes flew about the ears of Secretary Dorn of the War Department today.

The Secretary called them "fantastic and absurd," and added that he "look no stock in them." He did not deny, however, that a reported investigation into charges of sabotage—watered gasoline and tampering with Army mail planes—was being made.

From all of the Army's airmail zones came word that there had been no evidence of sabotage. The rumors, however, persisted.

Secretary Dorn did not say what he had heard, but unofficial reports told of punctured gas tanks, watered gasoline and plane controls that had been tampered with.

Faces Subpoena

Simultaneously there came disclosure that the Secretary had been given his choice of an invitation or a subpoena to tell Congress in person what his views on aviation are. The call for Dorn to testify came from aroused members of the House Military committee, as it mapped with the aid of the Justice Department the investigation ordered yesterday by the House into War Department expenditures of national defense money.

Members were stirred by a letter from Dorn stating that air-planes would be of only "momentary spectacular advantage" in war. The War Department and the committee are openly at odds.

Views of Staff

Chairman Rogers (D-NH) of the sub-committee studying aviation, told newspapermen: "We're going to have the Secretary down here to testify."

Committee members immediately charged that the letter Dorn wrote to Chairman McSwain (D-SC) of the full committee reflected the policy of the Army General Staff, which they asserted, is not in favor of aviation expansion.

Stelle Unopposed for Nomination in Democratic Primary

Springfield, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—John Stelle, McLeansboro, Assistant State Auditor, will be unopposed for the Democratic nomination for State Treasurer.

The right of his lone opponent, James J. Sullivan, Chicago, to a place on the primary ballot was challenged before the State Certifying Board yesterday and Sullivan indicated he was willing that his name be withdrawn.

Several Chicago legislators also challenged the right of one or more of their opponents to places on the ballot. The board, which consists of Governor Horner, Secretary of State Hughes, and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, is expected to make known its decisions today.

Killed in Crash

Tuscola, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—Miss Loyda Compton, 25, Bourbon, Ill., school teacher, was killed when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another machine near Arcola, Ill. Russell Crossman, Tuscola, her companion, was injured. The accident occurred late last night.

CRIME WAVE IN ATLANTA GIVES
FOLKS JITTERS

A Plague of Small-Time
Crime Descended
3 Weeks Ago

Atlanta, March 3.—(AP)—There's a crime wave in Atlanta and it's giving folks the jitters. They are wondering who'll be the next to be taken for a "ride."

That problem was answered for one man last night. Paul W. Broderick told police that two men forced him into an automobile on a crowded downtown street and took him nearly three miles where he was robbed of $1.60 and released.

The police record showed one abductor suspect under arrest yesterday and seven other persons held for investigation in connection with smaller crimes.

The plague of small-time crime fell upon the city along with the big snow three weeks ago. Now the law-biding motorist never knows when he will gaze into the barrel of a pistol and hear a gruff "drive on, buddy" from a running-board bandit.

These rides usually cost the motorist from $3 to $140, depending on the money he chances to have.

The idea had its inception when two men lured Arthur W. Powell, a young lawyer, from his home during the snowfall three weeks ago. The robber-kidnapers quarreled among themselves and left Powell bound in the snow.

Since then a police superintendent has been abducted and robbed of $11; a student had $4 taken from him; a theater manager lost $4 and his watch; a golf professional's unwilling ride cost him $140 and one man was kidnapped in front of a downtown office building and left tied to a tree near Ringgold, Ga., 100 miles away.

Police Chief T. O. Sturdivant first blamed the abductions and robberies on northern criminals. Now Chief Sturdivant says two or three men are carrying on the entire campaign.

Citizens are advised by Sturdivant to "shoot to kill and ask questions afterwards" if anyone jumps on their cars. He has instructed his men to "pour hot lead" into the bandits.

What to do about the crime wave? Some suggest calling out the state militia.

FOG CAUSE OF
CRASH: FIVE OF
SIX MEET DEATH

Collision on Highway
Near Grayville
During Night

Carmi, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—Five of six occupants of a motor car which collided with a truck near Grayville were dead today, and the sixth person, Mrs. Clyde Stone, wife of the Carmi postmaster, is in a critical condition. All lived in Carmi.

Norwood Stone, 18; his wife, Maxine, 17, and his sister, Mary Ellen Stone, 14, were killed outright when the automobile last night struck a truck driven by Lawrence Land and Harlan Douthett, both of Carlyle, Ind.

Mrs. Gertrude Cochran, 42, mother of Mrs. Stone, and Virginia Stone, 16, died later in a Carmi hospital. Land and Douthett were not injured.

A dense fog hung over the scene of the accident. The Carmi party was returning home after attending a basketball game at Grayville.

Inquest Monday

The White county Coroner said today the inquest into the deaths would not be held until Monday.

Both of the men in truck were requested to remain in Carmi until after the inquest. Authorities said they believed the accident was unavoidable owing to the fog.

According to reports received by authorities the driver of the Stone automobile apparently was experiencing difficulty in driving in the heavy fog as he was reported to have flashed his light off and on several times just before the crash.

A short time after the collision the automobile burst into flames. The time of the accident was fixed at approximately 10:30 o'clock last night.

Norwood Stone was a member of the Carmi high school basketball team.

New Athens Bank
Robber Captured

Carlyle, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—Waiting preliminary hearing before Justice C. H. Nicolay, Joe Downs, who has been identified as a man who robbed the Farmers & Merchants State Bank at New Athens last July, was held today in lieu of $20,000 bond for grand jury action.

Downs, who escaped from the Farmington, Mo., jail in 1931, denies robbing the bank, but was identified by C. W. Billhartz, cashier of the bank, as the man who covered him with a pistol during the holdup.

Desperado Escaped From Crown Point
Jail With Aid of Wooden Revolver He
Whittled; Has Guns and Sheriff's AutoCalmly Waited Three Guards, Locked
Them Up, Fled

Crown Point, Ind., March 3.—(AP)—With the aid of a wooden revolver he had whittled out of his cell, John Dillinger, America's most murderous outlaw, walked out of the Lake county jail today.

Before leaving the jail, Dillinger locked in a cell the only three guards on duty in the jail. Then he locked all doors of the jail. Other guards on duty outside the jail did not learn of the escape for some time.

Released Hostages
Two hours after the escape, Dillinger released at Peotone, Ill., two men he had forced to accompany him as hostages.

With the dummy gun he forced jail attaches to surrender to him and a Negro convict accomplice; took two machine guns from the prison armory, commandeered an automobile, and sped away towards Chicago with Deputy Sheriff Geo. Blunt and Edward Sager, an employee of the Main Street garage where the car was obtained.

Dillinger had been held in the

Was Elated as He

Crown Point, Ind., March 3.—(AP)—John Dillinger was feeling very elated as he left the Lake county jail today.

After he had forced all the guards on duty in the jail to surrender their weapons and enter a cell, he held aloft the "weapon" with which he had forced them to surrender.

"Ha, ha, ha," he chortled, "I did it with a wooden gun."

Lake county jail, presided over by Mrs. Lillian Holley, who had asserted "he will never escape," for the murder of an East Chicago, Ind., policeman, during a bank robbery.

Seventeen witnesses had pointed out Dillinger as the man who killed the policeman with a machine gun.

Had "Airtight" Case
Prosecutors said they had an "airtight" case against him and that they would send him to the electric chair.

He was scheduled to go on trial March 12.

The escape started at 9 A. M. when Deputy Sheriff Blunt went into a cell where Dillinger, Herbert Youngblood, Negro, and another alleged murderer and three other prisoners were confined.

Blunt began taking fingerprints of a new prisoner in the cell, when suddenly Dillinger confronted him with the fake pistol.

He forced Blunt to surrender his pistol, and then locked the deputy in a nearby cell.

Then the prisoners waited quietly until Warden Lou Baker appeared. Blunt's pistol was shoved into his midriff by Dillinger, and he was locked up with Blunt.

Third Guard Locked Up
Another period of waiting ensued and a third guard, John Calhoun, walked down the corridor. He was subjected to the same treatment as Blunt and Baker.

Those three were the only guards on duty in the jail at the time. There were other guards detailed outside and in the Criminal Court building nearby, but they did not learn of the escape for some minutes.

Before he left Dillinger returned to the cell where the guards were locked and forced Blunt to accompany him. Then he locked the door on Calhoun and Baker.

Keys which they took from Baker enabled the escaping prisoners to walk through several iron doors to freedom. Dillinger locked each door after passing through it, evidently to halt immediate pursuit.

With guns snatched from the guards, Dillinger, Youngblood, Blunt and the three cellmates, proceeded to the Warden's office, snatched up two machine guns, handed one to Youngblood and left.

Dillinger, Youngblood and Blunt—the other three prisoners having become frightened and turning back after leaving the Warden's office—next appeared in the jail kitchen.

Dillinger said to Mrs. Lou Baker, wife of the warden: "Be a good little girl and we won't kill you."

The woman, frozen in fear, stood stock still, and Dillinger walked out and locked the door.

The two fugitives then went to the basement garage and found there was no automobile there. Street garage nearby. Finding

SLAYER BREAKS
CARLYLE JAIL
DURING NIGHT

Pittsburgh Boy, Confessed Killer, Is Now Fugitive

Carlyle, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—Thomas A. Davis, Jr., 19-year-old Pittsburgh high school student awaiting extradition to Pennsylvania to answer to charges of slaying a Pennsylvania state trooper last September escaped from the Clinton county jail last night, authorities disclosed today.

Authorities said the youth escaped sometime between 9 o'clock last night and 7 o'clock this morning.

An investigation revealed that the boy had torn out a drain pipe in his cell and used it to pry off the bars to his cell.

Davis is wanted in Pennsylvania for the slaying of Herbert Branglier, a state trooper who he is alleged to have shot when the latter surprised him in the act of robbing a gasoline filling station.

Davis, authorities said, made a complete confession to the slaying of the Pennsylvania officer following his arrest here on charges of assault to kill a Clinton county deputy.

All police officials in southern Illinois today were given a complete description of the youth and asked to aid in his capture.

SAMUEL INSULL
AGAIN TOLD HE MUST GET OUT

Foreign Minister Insists Time of Stay
Has Expired

Athens, Mar. 3.—(AP)—The Foreign Minister today notified the Minister of the Interior that Samuel Insull, Sr., former Chicago utilities operator, must leave Greece.

The notification said that the final extension of Insull's permit to remain in the country has expired. Insull previously had gained repeated extensions of the permit by which he remained in Greece, secure from United States government authorities who sought his extradition to face trial on charge of embezzlement and grand larceny in connection with the collapse of his Middle West Utilities organization.

Whether Insull will go to the United States was not immediately certain.

He merely is expelled from Greece and now may go to whatever country will receive him.

It was said today he may head for Syria.

Calif. Financier,
Illinois Native,
Died Late Friday

Palm Springs, Calif., March 3.—(AP)—Harry L. Thompson, 59, retired financier of Pasadena, died of a heart attack here yesterday. He came to Palm Springs for a rest only a few days ago.

Thompson came here from Joliet, Ill. At one time he was associated with John B. Coulsten and Archie M. Andrews in a syndicate that owned all of Pasadena's leading hotels. His widow and a daughter survive. The body probably will be taken to Joliet for burial but funeral arrangements have not been completed.

It is said that at least 2 per cent of human beings associate a particular color with each sound they hear, and sometimes this extends to the names of the days of the week.

Escaped Trap
In mid-November, Indiana and Chicago police set trap for him about a physician's office where he was going for treatment. Dillinger, apparently aware of waiting police, hurriedly jumped in his automobile along with a woman companion and fled amid a hail of bullets while his gun-woman splattered lead at pursuing officers. His bullet-punctured automobile later was found abandoned.

On Nov. 19, Harry Copeland, a benchman of Dillinger, was arrested in Chicago and rushed back to prison in Michigan City as a parole violator, on Nov. 20.

A few hours after he reached prison a gang of five machine gunners raided the American Bank & Trust Company at Racine, Wis., escaped with $27,000, and abducted three persons in their flight, later

Dallas, Tex., March 3.—(AP)—Martha Julia Bogness—who is two years old and therefore too young to feel the pang of it—saw her mother and grandmother shot to death.

Her father, Giles S. Bogness, told the police about it last night. He and his wife had been separated since Feb. 7. Yesterday afternoon he took the baby to a relatives home, where his wife was staying, and asked her to come back to him.

"I loved that baby," he said. "I had begged my wife to come back to me so that we could give the child a good home."

The wife refused.

Policeman's Slayer
Asks for Rehearing

Springfield, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—John Schick, sentenced to die April 20 for the slaying of John Sevik, Chicago policeman, appealed to the Supreme Court today for a rehearing and a modification of the court's opinion.
The court upheld the death sentence, at the February term, for the shooting which occurred when Schick attempted to escape from the Cook county Criminal Courts building.
The petition for rehearing avers the court ignored the fact that Sevik had fired four bullets at Schick as he was fleeing, and that improper remarks were made by the State's Attorney.
Rehearing was also asked by the Buick Motor Company of the court's decision holding a dealer responsible for imperfections in an automobile.

Seeks Freedom of Accused Ottawan

Ottawa, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—Thomas Snurr, attorney for Howard Ruffner, member of a prominent Ottawa family held on a charge of murder, today filed a petition for a habeas corpus writ in Circuit Court.
The writ was made returnable before Judge Robert E. Larkin Monday morning at 10 o'clock. It was directed against Sheriff E. J. Welter who Thursday arrested Ruffner on a charge of slaying Vincent Webber, German butcher in Ottawa, four years ago.
Webber's body was found in a packing house vat after he had been robbed, beaten and bound by an assailant who was believed to have sought a $1,000 bill the butcher had displayed.
Sheriff Welter previously refused to disclose his evidence against Ruffner.

Cause of Mildew

Mildew spots are growths of some species of mold. They appear on cotton material and sometimes on woollens which have been left in a damp, dark place. Leather, too, is very susceptible to mildew.

DOUBLE LIMA GUARD

Lima, O., March 3.—(AP)—Immediately after they were informed of the escape of John Dillinger from jail at Crown Point, Ind., Allen county officials ordered extra precautions to guard Harry Pierpont, Charles Makley, and Russell Clark, two men they had aided from a burning hotel two days before. They tipped the police. Clark was taken at a house with a woman identified as Opal Long; Makley was seized in a downtown store. John Pierpont and Mary Kinder were apprehended at a tourist camp. Dillinger walked in to a police trap set at a house where Clark was nabbed. A large amount of money, many guns, and much ammunition was found with the gang. Pierpont submitted to arrest willingly at the tourists' camp. Later he suddenly drew two pistols at the police station but was quickly subdued.

Thought Birds Flew to Moon

In a book on bird life that was published in 1703 it was solemnly declared that birds migrated to the moon at the approach of winter and returned the following spring. It was estimated that this flight required 30 days.

Neurocalometer Service

It is vitally essential in the successful treatment of nervous diseases to be able to find the exact location of the nerve or nerves affected. The Neurocalometer is a very precise, delicate instrument created through research, for that purpose. Not only is it capable of locating the precise nerve involved, but also it is able to show when a trouble has been removed. The Neurocalometer examination is as vital to nerve conditions as is the X-ray to bone and deep tissue examinations. You owe it to yourself to have this test made.

TO INSPECT CO. A

Col. W. F. Hemmaway of Sycamore and members of his staff of the 129th Infantry, will be in Dixon Monday evening in attendance at the regular weekly drill meeting of Company A. Col. Hemmaway will inspect the company and equipment at that time and will distribute marksmanship medals to members of the company who have qualified for these decorations during 1933. Captain Sherwood Dixon today received word of the annual federal inspection of the local company by a United States Army officer which will take place on April 23.

Calmly Waited Three

They then went to the Main three employees here, Dillinger said: "Don't move or I'll fill you with lead."

Picked Sheriff's Car

With the machine gun in readiness, he singled out a car belonging to the Sheriff, forced Blunt to get in the front seat first and as Youngblood prodded Sager into the rear seat, the two desperadoes sprang in and sped away.
The car taken by Dillinger was the one used to bring the desperado from the Chicago municipal airport to the Crown Point jail—a mail man named Robert Volk revealed. Volk was in the garage at the time Dillinger and his escaping confederates came in. They demanded "the fastest car you got."

Mail Man's Story

"I just drove my truck into the garage a couple of doors away from the county jail," Volk related excitedly. "I was standing there talking to Ed Sager, a mechanic, and Loran Rader, salesman. The door opened and in came three fellows, a big Negro and two white men. One fellow walked up to Sager and all at once I saw he had a machine gun. And he said: 'Gimme the fastest car you got, garage man, and make it snappy.' I didn't realize until a minute or so that it was Dillinger.
"Then this fellow Blunt—I found out afterward who he was—he's a finger print fellow—said to the garage man: 'He means business.'
"I look around and this big Negro had a machine gun, too. So after a minute, Sager says the Sheriff's car is the fastest thing he's got in the garage. They took the Sheriff's car and they took Blunt and the garage man with them. The car went out the door lickety split and it almost hit a stop light and they went north on 53 (heading toward Gary)."

FRED HOSTAGES

Peotone, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—John Dillinger and Herbert Youngblood, who escaped today from the county jail at Crown Point, Ind., halted their flight here today long enough to free Deputy Sheriff George Blunt and Edward Sager, garage employee, whom they had taken with them as hostages.
The deputy immediately joined a hastily formed posse consisting of about 40 state highway police and all the available male population of this place and started in pursuit of the fleeing pair. Highway Commissioner Edward Rust took charge of the pursuit and the posse numbered about 500 in all.
Dillinger and his companion fled toward Kankakee and officers there were warned. The pursuit proceeded on state route 44 and had not caught sight of the men when the posse reached Momence.

Reformation of NRA
Codes to Result from Meetings

By JAMES COPE
(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press)

Washington, March 3.—(AP)—Elected delegates of industry, for the first time in American history, will be allowed to vote next week directly on policies of the government.
NRA chiefs now plan the massed meeting of code authorities as a sort of loosely constituted Congress of Industry. Its thousands of delegates will be called upon to record by ballot their views on the more controversial issues debated in the code reform meetings.

The votes will be advisory only and without the legal force of those cast in Congress; but they will affect vitally the ensuing actions of the administration.
Nearly 3,500 members of 400 code authorities or committees charged with the completion of yet unfinished codes, will be in Washington next Monday, first to hear President Roosevelt review his first year in office and outline plans for the future, then to divide into five groups for debate and advisory action on Hugh S. Johnson's twelve-point revision program.

To Study Criticism

Before them will be the facts and statements gathered in the now ended roundup of public criticism. They will be called upon to refuse or to propose correction of the charged abuses. They will be given opportunity to raise topics of their own.

When they are through, probably on Thursday, Johnson will announce to the country a clear-cut program of action, probably involving sweeping Presidential orders for the modification of existing codes.

This plan was laid by Johnson before his aides last night in a session attended by all NRA executive and advisors.

One question alone was left open.

William Green, Federation of Labor president, who is on the Labor Advisory Board, asked Johnson to say whether he would take action on the now widespread contention he said was being waged by industrialists against labor unions despite the industrial laws grant of freedom to organize.

Knowing the question to be headed for the courts for an interpretation of just what the law does sanction, and aware of the great bitterness built up, Johnson postponed a decision until Sunday.

freeing them. Warrants the next day named Dillinger, Charles Makley and Harry Pierpont, as members of the gang.
The Dillinger-Pierpont gang supposedly has its center in the convicts who escaped from Michigan City on Sept. 26.

Fire Led to Capture

A hotel fire which led to the capture of the Dillinger gang in Tucson, Ariz., January 25, two firemen recognized pictures in a detective magazine of Charles Makley and Russell Clark as two men they had aided from a burning hotel two days before. They tipped the police. Clark was taken at a house with a woman identified as Opal Long; Makley was seized in a downtown store. John Pierpont and Mary Kinder were apprehended at a tourist camp. THE BIBLE is not a book of political maxims or of economic theories. It is the spirit of brotherhood and good will. But it also strikes straight and clear at the moral defects in individuals which are responsible for a large part of the poverty and suffering of the world, and also at the moral and economic defects in society.

Mrs. Chas. Eastman Hostess to Guild

A very pleasant all day meeting was held Thursday with Mrs. Eastman. The usual picnic dinner was enjoyed at the noon hour by nine members and one guest, Mrs. Roy Eastman.

Members were engaged with finishing quilt blocks and their own needle work.

A business meeting was held, secretary and treasurer's reports were given and collection taken.

An interesting program followed: Mrs. Stockpole, president, reading, "Verses dedicated to Child," in memory of Washington.

Mrs. A. G. Burnham, reading, "Scion of Washington Elm, to replace 'Fallen Ancestor'."

Mrs. L. W. Miller, reading several chapters from the book, "The Voice of Experience." These readings were interesting and enjoyable and helped to pass the pleasant day with Mrs. Eastman.

Ladies Met at Lutheran Church

The Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran church held their meeting Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. The meeting opened by singing several songs, the 15th Chapter of Matthew was read by the president, Mrs. George Eichenberg gave a prayer which was followed by all praying the Lord's Prayer in unison. Social relation in the congregation was read by Mrs. Robert Fulton which was much enjoyed. Miss Julia Hubbard gave a reading, "Tulip time in Holland" which was very good. Roll call was called and nineteen members responded. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer gave a very good report. The ladies are donating $50 to the Nachusa Home and $5 to the Community Kitchen. The meeting closed by singing the closing hymn.

So. Dixon Community Club Meets

The South Dixon Community Club met Wednesday in an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. L. T. Henry on route 89. At noon a delicious chicken and noodle dinner was served to a goodly number of members and visitors. At 2 o'clock the meeting was called to order by the president. Two songs were sung out of the new song books. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. After a short turned over to the program committee. The rest of the afternoon was spent in playing cards. Mrs. Jesse Lautzenheiser won the head prize and the low prize was awarded to Lauren Henry. The meeting then closed and will meet with Mrs. Peter Hoyle in an all day meeting, Thursday, March 8.

Mmmm! Piping Parker House Rolls and Muff - Puffs!

Two Hot Bread Recipes Easy To Prepare

By NEA Service
Homemade rolls and muff-puffs (muffins by a fancier name), piping hot, give the breakfast table, buffet supper party or afternoon tea that little personal touch that is both decorative and appetizing. They're quite easy to make and the family, as well as the guests, are sure to appreciate this bit of culinary art.

Parker House Rolls
Parker House rolls are the champagne of hot breads. Here's a recipe: One half yeast cake, one-fourth cup lukewarm water, one egg, two cups of flour, one-half cup of scalded milk, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons sugar, two teaspoons of lard.

Dissolve the yeast cake in the water. Beat the egg, add salt, sugar and scalded milk. Mix the lard and the flour, add the egg mixture to it and then put in the yeast cake and water. Allow it to stand for four hours and then roll the dough to a thickness of about three-eighths of an inch. Cut out the rolls with a biscuit cutter and make a dent with a knife in the center of each one. Fold them on the knife lines and place in a buttered tin. Set the tin in a warm place and allow the rolls to rise for an hour. Bake in a medium oven for twenty minutes. Brush with melted butter after baking.

2-3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder.
Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs and cream. Beat well. Add rest of ingredients and drop portions from tip of spoon onto greased baking sheets. Bake 12 minutes in moderate oven.

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Barnett Entertain Missionary Soc., Hubbies

An evening meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Christian church was enjoyed at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Barnett on Thursday evening. The husbands of the members were guests and also furnished the program. There were fifteen members and seventeen guests present. A song was followed by prayer by Mrs. Seyster. The business meeting followed, the officers prayer being given by Mrs. Earl Newcomb. Mrs. Barnett told of the organiza-

Muff-Puffs
Muff-puffs are little muffins fit for a gourmet. This recipe will make 18 small ones:
Two eggs, one cup of flour, one fourth teaspoon salt, two teaspoons sugar, one-half cup of butter and lard mixed, one-half cup of milk and two teaspoons of baking powder.
The eggs should be beaten, whites and yolks separately. To the yolks add the salt, sugar and lard and butter. Then pour in the milk. The flour and the baking powder should be sifted together before being mixed with the wet ingredients. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, place in muffin tins and bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes.

tion of the Missionary Society whose anniversary will be celebrated in October. April will be a day of prayer in remembrance of Mrs. Caroline Plarke who organized the society in 1874.

Rev. Barnett had charge of the devotions. He gave the Bible reading and then asked for a minute of silent prayer for Japan and the Philippines. He then led in prayer. A special prayer was offered in behalf of the Rev. Marshall family. W. B. Hall read an article and a song followed. Earl Newcomb took charge of the program, the subject being "Christ in the Island Worlds". James Leach talked on the "Philippine Islands" and Clarence Seyster on "Japan". Miss Margaret Whiteman, a niece of Rev. and Mrs. Barnett sang sweetly "I Would Be True". Mr. Barnhizer's paper was also on "Japan". Mr. Flanningam told "When East and West Meet." All of these articles were well given and made more interesting by being "told" instead of being "read." Then benediction followed. Mr. Taylor had a share in the Fellowship period, by passing slips with reference pertaining to the church—the answers to found in the Bible. The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Barnett, Derr, and Newcomb and they served tempting refreshments.

Broadcasts Spring Fashion Story, 1934

Customers and shoppers in the A. L. Geisenheimer & Co. store Friday afternoon and today were afforded a treat and incidentally gathered much information on spring fashions in the radio broadcast sponsored by the Printzess Co. Bernard, the famous French designer, told the Spring Fashion Story for 1934 in a few concise and entertaining sentences. He gave a resume of the Spring Fashion Parade, and one is enabled to grasp a great deal about the styles of the spring season which is now upon us and to have a fairly good idea of what to expect for the summer mode.

To Give Book Review Thursday

Mrs. H. U. Bardwell will give a book review on next Thursday afternoon at her home. The title of the book is "The Native's Return" by Louis Adamic.
"The Native's Return" is the story of an Austrian peasant who emigrates to America where he is educated. He wins a Guggenheim fellowship and goes abroad for a year's study. He spends some time at his home in Yugo-Slavia he is fascinated with the wealth of material afforded one in writing that he writes of this people, of their folk lore, history, and the political aspect of the Balkan countries.
This is a highly enlightening and interesting book and no doubt many will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the review given in Mrs. Bardwell's clear and delightful manner.

Was Hostess at Luncheon Bridge

Friday Mrs. Lyle M. Prescott entertained with a luncheon and bridge, and it was an enjoyable affair. Decorations appropriate to St. Patrick's Day with spring flowers were very pretty. Mrs. Warren C. Durkes was awarded high honors and Mrs. C. H. Bokhof received second honors.

P. T. A. of Prairieville School Held Meet Thursday Eve

The Prairieville School P. T. A. convened for its regular March meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

A splendid program was given as follows:
"The Good Health Song" Primary Room
(Business Session)

On the April program committee, George Wechsler, Mrs. Ezra Lang and Mrs. Velma Bradley were named.

When the nominating committee reported, J. T. Lawrence was chosen for president; Emmett Reid, vice president and Mrs. J. C. Becker, secretary-treasurer. There being no nominations from the floor, these officers were unanimously elected to serve the coming year.

The association voted to continue the subscription to the "Child Welfare Magazine."

Dramatization of "Why the Rabbit Laughed."

Mr. Elephant—Eugene Jennings.
Mr. Whale—Lawrence Dupray.
White Rabbit—Lyle Book.
Song, "The Two Clocks." Grammar room

Reports of Legislative Conference.

Prairieville had four representatives at the conference which was held at the Dixon Masonic Temple February 17th. They were: Mrs. Charles Grobe, Mrs. Edna Pine, J. B. Reaver and Harry Friedricks. Mrs. Grobe gave a clear and well outlined report of the social part of the meeting.

Mrs. Pine's report concerned the business session which followed the banquet. At this time the Rock River Division of the Illinois State Teachers Association presented its legislative program to those legislators and candidates who were present.

The principal speaker on the program was Dr. Chas. Judd of the faculty of Chicago University. He said that there was indeed a crisis in education—the American school system of free public education was imperiled. He contrasted our school system with the systems in various European countries. Many European countries have two systems—free from grades one to three—inclusive. Here we have only three years—free for girls as well as boys, and free for children of all classes. The United States alone, has free high schools.

Dr. Judd quoted statistics proving that since children have been kept out of industry the enrollment in schools has increased many, many times, therefore the cost of school administration must increase in proportion.

School administrations are accused of extravagance—in the teaching of agriculture, facts and frills, safety, and thrift. As long ago as 1870 the public demanded that agriculture be taught in school; insurance and casualty companies urge schools to teach safety first; and banks urge schools to teach thrift. So it would seem that these facts have been added to the school curriculum because of public demand.

Only when public schools close will they be appreciated.

The legislators from this district who were called upon to speak included John P. Devine, Dennis Collins, H. C. Allen, and others Ogle county.

Both reports of the meeting were so direct and concise that the members of the association felt much indebted to Mrs. Pine and Mrs. Grobe.

Jane Wallace Heathcote—Mabel Williams.

This clever comedy in one act was generously applauded, and the surprise of the good ladies when they learned that the long-awaited new minister was a lady!

Banjo Quartette: Lelia Thummler, Bernice Michel, Bill Lindenberg and George Davis.

"Little Shoes." "Just Couldn't Take It Baby," were numbers by the quartette.

Joseph Acton of Sterling, representing the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., showed three reels of motion pictures. The first reel portrayed the history of the telephone and called to our notice the countless and ever increasing number of ways in which the telephone is of use to mankind. The second reel, a comic sketch, contained a conversation between two office telephones at midnight.

The third reel showed the meticulous care necessary in assembling the two hundred twenty-nine parts of a telephone.

These pictures in addition to their educational value were entertaining as well.

Acton extended an invitation to all to visit the office in Sterling. We feel much indebted to him for the part he so kindly and efficiently contributed to the evening's program.

The banjo quartette then played, "Paradise Lane," "I'll See You in Church," and as an encore, "Good Old Goo'us."

Mr. Manon the president, thanking those who had taken part in the program invited all to the meeting on April 5, at which time the new officers will be installed.

The hospitality committee served a tempting lunch, consisting of sandwiches, pickles, salad and coffee.

W.F.M.S. Celebrates Founder's Day at Church on Thursday

The celebration of the sixty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church was held by the local auxiliary in the church parlors on Thursday afternoon, March 1st.

The devotional service with Mrs. Belle Morris as leader opened with the hymn, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go." Her subject was "The True Light Shining in Darkness."

The president, Mrs. Chas. Willford, welcomed the guests from the sister missionary societies of the other churches of the city and then turned the meeting over to the program committee. Mesdames Hobbs and Stansell, who had arranged an appropriate pageant for the occasion.

Missionaries of the early days of our societies to the various countries were represented by ladies in costumes of an early day. During the presentation of the pageant, Mrs. Belle Morris played softly by Mrs. Blake Grover, while the reader, Miss Flora Seals, described the work of each character as she appeared on the scene and knelt before a lighted torch from which she lighted her own taper before departing.

As a prelude to the pageant "Torch Bearers" Mrs. Crawford Thomas sang "I Gave My Life For Thee" the first stanza of which was illustrated.

The first episode, "Let There Be Light" was introduced by the Spirit of Christianity, Mrs. H. W. Leydig.

Then Mrs. A. E. Marth represented Mrs. Barbara Heck, the "Mother of American Methodism" who was instrumental in organizing the first as 1870 the public demanded that agriculture be taught in school; insurance and casualty companies urge schools to teach safety first; and banks urge schools to teach thrift. So it would seem that these facts have been added to the school curriculum because of public demand.

Only when public schools close will they be appreciated.

Episode III "Beginning At Jerusalem". After the Spirit of Christianity had again appeared on the scene, Mrs. Marietta Price took her place as Frances E. Willard, the great lecturer, organizer and reformer. Her public speaking career began with a series of lectures given at the request of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

"Episode IV "Let There Be Light" The Spirit of Christianity spoke giving out a challenge for consecration and service on our part. "I Can Hear My Savior Calling" was sung and the pageant closed with the reading of a beautiful prayer for "Prophets and Pioneers" written by Walter Rauschenbush and read by Mrs. Gilbert Stansell. The president closed the meeting with prayer. Six new members were reported.

After the program a social hour was enjoyed by the one hundred members, friends and guests that were present. Mesdames Morris and Bennett's units served dainty refreshments. Mesdames N. Rathbun and F. X. Newcomer poured at the table which was decorated with our missionary colors, the Stewardship candles, and a birthday cake with sixty-five candles.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. E. Whitson. Program committee, Mrs. Ware and Mrs. Greig. The meeting of the Rock River Valley Group will be held in Morrison, Wednesday, March 28th which all should attend.

"We have not reached a decision," said Fairbanks, who accompanied the British actress by train down the river to the dock to see her off.

"I hope to go to Mallorca, myself, before she returns, but I am tied up here temporarily arranging for the filming of two pictures".

TURNING CRIMINALS OUT.

Chicago is disturbed by a decision of the Illinois supreme court that a man convicted of crime should be freed because of illegal process in selection of the grand jury. There was some opinion at first that this would mean a wholesale delivery of the penitentiaries, freedom of notorious gangsters who have been convicted only by great pains and expense. Floyd E. Thompson, former justice of the supreme court, has expressed the opinion that not more than twenty-five would be affected. Of course the number would be limited if the ruling affected only those whose attorneys raised the question in the lower court and were overruled.

Dissent has been written by Justices Stone of Peoria and DeYoung of Chicago. It probably is only coincidence that these are the only two republican justices remaining on the supreme bench. We incline to their view of the matter, an excerpt of which follows:

"There is no showing here that the grand jury was prejudiced against plaintiff in error, or that it did not fairly consider the evidence presented to it on which the indictment was returned. It is not shown that any member thereof was non compos, prejudiced or otherwise disqualified to act, nor that illegal means were used to secure the indictment. Those impaneled were regularly sworn to do their duty as grand jurors. In no wise does it appear that they were not persons qualified to so act. In short, there is nothing in this record to indicate that the grand jury which returned this indictment was in any way incompetent or unfair or that oppressive or illegal means were used in securing evidence against plaintiff in error."

"There is no reason or basis in the law of criminal jurisprudence nor justice to say that an indictment returned in the regular manner by this grand jury should be declared null and void."

The decision of the majority of the court was that the indictment was void because the grand jury did not consist of the first twenty-three men drawn from the box, but was selected by the chief justice of the criminal court division from sixty or a hundred names drawn from the box. That was regular practice.

We shall not dwell upon the opinion of the majority of the court nor question that it is in accord with the letter of the law. Occasionally it becomes necessary to reverse a case in which substantial justice has been done, because it would be bad procedure to allow such a precedent to stand and because it eventually might permit injustice to be done. In other cases justices overlook technical errors when they find substantial justice has been done. It is from that standpoint that this case eventually must be judged. There are three points that are outstanding in the question of whether or not substantial justice was interfered with by the method of selecting grand jurors:

1. Grand jurors do not take part in the trial of the case. They only formulate the charge against the defendant.

2. Our courts have been advancing away from the tendency to hold indictments void because of failure to dot an i or cross a t.

3. We regard our downstate courts as doing substantial justice and our grand juries as functioning as well as may be expected, yet they are chosen by "selection" rather than by drawing.

4. We regard rather highly the manner in which Daventry criminal who desires to plead guilty is speeded to the penitentiary, yet he goes on information filed by the county attorney and without any grand jury process whatever.

Out of these points it does not appear that what has taken place in Cook county has in any way prejudiced the cases handled or interfered with substantial justice. The process adopted was not in accord with the letter of the law.

It seems inexcusable that the law should not have been followed, but it wasn't.

TROUBLE IN UNIFORM.

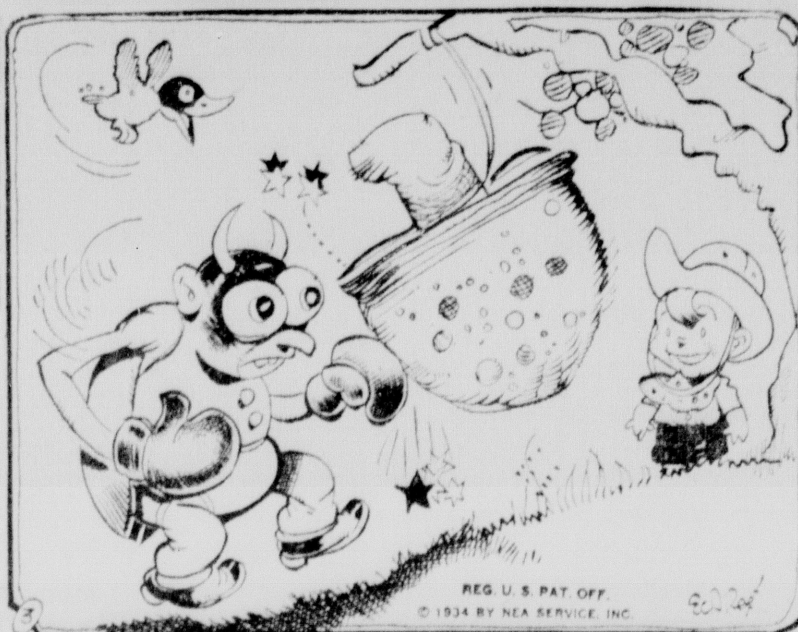

Dispatches from London report that the British government seriously is considering action to disband all uniformed political bodies, such as the Fascist black shirts organized by Sir Oswald Mosley.

England never has been plagued with these organizations to the extent that continental countries have been; nevertheless, it is beginning to have difficulties with them, and during the last six months of 1933 no fewer than 22 disturbances in which men wearing political uniforms were involved were reported.

As a general thing, it can be said that when political parties take to organizing their young men into semi-military bodies, dressed in distinctive uniforms, there is trouble ahead.

These bodies are not designed for use in harmless parades; they are organized for fighting, if their directors think it necessary—fighting with their fists, with club, or with guns.

There is precious little place for them in a democracy, and, if the British government plans to abolish them, the action will be very easy to understand.

"Hello, there, Goofy," Scouty said. "Don't let us stop you. Go ahead and finish up your sawing. Maybe we can lend a hand."

"Ha, ha," laughed Goofy. "You don't know how much work I can stand."

"You see, I'm jumping all day long, and naturally that makes me strong. Why, I could saw for hours and never hesitate."

"However, since you lads have stopped to call, my sawing will be dropped. Then we can play together, and I think that will be great."

Wee Goody smiled and shouted, "Gee! You are as thoughtful as can be. Let's have a jumping contest to see who can jump the best."

Once more Goofy laughed, and when he cried, "Okay! Just tell me when I am supposed to jump. With very strong legs I am blessed."

"Right now," said Scouty. Then there came a jump that put the bunch to shame. The big grasshopper took one leap and disappeared from sight.

Old Nick exclaimed "Don't start a fuss. He's simply played a trick on us. Instead of coming back today, he'll curl up for the night."

One of the Tinkies then cried, "Hey! We're due for one more thrill today. I see a funny beetle, and he's wearing boxing gloves."

"He's boxing with a mushroom. Say, how does a beetle get that way? I'm going up and ask him why such funny sport he loves."

"They found the beetle friendly, and he said, 'I guess you'll understand, when I explained that Mister Caterpillar took my home.'"

"I'll get him in a boxing bout and very shortly drive him out. When I get through, I'm pretty sure that he'll be glad to room."

(The caterpillar pulls a surprise in the next story.)

Living Our Everyday Lives

MIXED MARRIAGES

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

"Then, the man leaving the ring upon the fourth finger of the woman's left hand, they shall both kneel down and the priest shall say, 'Lord have mercy upon us!'"

So runs a rubric of the marriage rite in the English Prayer Book; and there is need for the mercy for the mercy of God upon our life together, as well as upon our separation by death.

One recalls the rubric as one reads the words of Robert Burdett, discussing most acutely the relations between Thomas Carlyle and his wife, Jane Welsh. He sums up his study by saying:

"While Thomas was in love with her, she was but the crowning delight of his existence, and not a necessity of it. On the other hand, she found him a necessity, but she was not in love with him."

Then he adds his conclusion. Thus, ultimately, the whole nature of neither was involved in their union. If that was true, and how anyone could discover it is past finding out it explains many things.

No end of nonsense has been written about that famous couple, who understood each other much better than some of their friends ever understood either one. Both were great humorists, and that accounts for much.

Of course it was a mixed marriage, like most others, made up of wooing and warring tenderness and tension. Then, too, there was the same rift that made the trouble in Eden—there was no child; though both longed for a little one to crown their love and bless their days.

But even in an ideal marriage like that of Robert and Elizabeth Browning, we hear rumors of debate; how the husband was wont to turn red in the face, bang the table, and lay down the law—which was not obeyed.

Too much is made of such discussions by married folk themselves oftentimes, as well as by gossip. Two people always think differently, if they have minds, and talk it out "except in opinion not disagreeing," as Carlyle said of his friend Stirling.

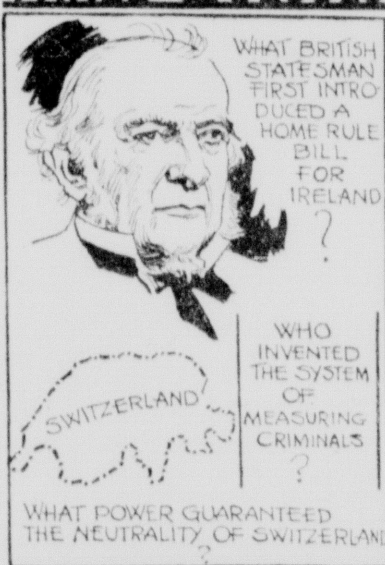

If marriage is a mixture it is up to us to decide what ingredients go into it, what the proportion is, and what the result is to be.

Bay Window and Bow Window

The terms bay and bow window are frequently used interchangeably, although this is not correct, strictly speaking. A bow window is properly one that is a segment of a circle. A bay window in architecture is one projecting outward and rising from the ground or basement in a plan rectangular, semi-octagonal or semi-hexagonal, but always straight-sided.

SATURDAY, MARCH 3

(Read Matthew VI:25-34)

"Say Father."

The Master commands us to pray finally, that is, as sons and daughters. From his boyhood Jesus called God his father. In all His recorded prayers He uses no other title. In His instructions to His disciples He says, "When ye pray, say, Father." We cut the nerve of Christian prayer if we deny the Fatherhood of God. The Christian name for God is Father. At the center of the universe there beats a parental heart. It is because He is our father that He gave His only begotten Son, and it is because we are His children that we ought to love and serve Him. If we think of God as energy or force of power, tendency or principle or law, we come down to a lower conception of Him than Jesus held. It was on the ground of God's fatherhood that Jesus built His argument for the reasonableness of prayer. It is because He is our father that we have a right to speak to Him and it is because we are His children, we are justified in expecting Him to answer us.

PRAYER: Our Father who art in heaven and also on the earth, we rejoice that Thou hast revealed Thy heart in Jesus Christ. Thy son, and hast assured us of Thy care and pity. Forgive us, if we ever doubt Thy goodness and increase our faith in Thine abiding presence and boundless love. Amen.

SUNDAY, MARCH 4

(Read Matthew VI:9-13)

"Forgive Us Our Debts"

There is no such thing as isolation for a Christian. Even though we pray in the inner chamber with the door shut, we are in the presence of a multitude. When Jesus suggested the ideal style of prayer he used no singular pronouns whatever. Every pronoun was made plural. No blessings for one person alone were to be thought of. "Give us our daily bread." "Forgive us our debts." "Deliver us from evil."

So runs the prayer coined by the Masters lips. We are members of a family and whatever good thing I crave for myself I must desire for the entire household. We are members of a body. If one member suffers all the members suffer with it or one member be honored, all the members rejoice with it. We are brothers and sisters knit together by indissoluble bonds. The ties by which we are bound are the ties of love and our fellowship is intended to be like to that above. In the solitude of the inner chamber we link ourselves with the whole family of God.

PRAYER: Our Heavenly Father, we love to think of Thy Fatherly care embracing all mankind. Thou dost cause Thy sun to rise on the evil and the good. Give us a keener understanding of the width of Thy compassion, and may the breadth of our sympathy be more like Thine. Amen.

JUST DRIFTING ALONG FIFTH AVENUE

Still in the grip of the city's severest winter since the famous blizzard of '88, New York here shows you exhibit A—celebrated Fifth Avenue as it appeared after a 30-hour snowfall. The metropolis mobilized an army of 48,000 shovelers to attack the huge drifts which rose during the second record blizzard to strike within a week.

by indissoluble bonds. The ties by which we are bound are the ties of love and our fellowship is intended to be like to that above. In the solitude of the inner chamber we link ourselves with the whole family of God.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

FROM TAXPAYERS ASSN.

TO OUR TEACHERS—In the news item of last evening's Telegraph, in which I was quoted as denouncing the teachers as "tax slackers," the teachers did not get a square deal. In fact, they were made victims, which is wrong.

The facts are as follows: Figures taken from the 1928 National Bureau of Economic Research show that those receiving 7-8 of the national income paid little or no direct tax supporting schools, and as such they ARE tax slackers. Those earners are all products of our schools, whether from the elementary schools, the high schools, the colleges, the universities, or the normal training schools for teachers.

Our schools have been supported primarily by real estate taxation, but now the demand has become so great that real estate is unable to meet it.

The teachers are but one of the products of our school system, and as such must not be made the brunt of the problem calling for a more equitable placing of the tax burden.

However, the Illinois Supreme Court in the Income Tax Case 329, page 579, declares "Property includes everything that goes to make up one's wealth or estate, and it may include the salary of an office."

On page 591, the Court holds that "income" is property. The Court further states that the overwhelming weight of judicial authority holds that "income" is property. In substance, all these courts hold that "money or any other thing of value acquired as gain or profit from Capital or Labor, is property and that in the aggregate, these acquisitions constitute 'income,' and in accordance with the axiom that the whole includes all its parts, income includes property and nothing but property, and therefore is property.

And since our Constitution provides that all "property" be taxed all salaries and incomes should be listed for taxation.

When this is done there will be ample funds for schools, and to spare.

First Letter Written

The first letter of which there is record was written by Dr. Diego Alvarez Chances, who accompanied Columbus on his second expedition. It was mailed from the port of Isabella, Santo Domingo, on February 2, 1494, to the Municipal Council of Seville, Spain, and arrived on April 8, 1494. The first letters written in English in America are believed to be four letters of Ralph Lane, the first commander of Raleigh's first colony. They were written August 12, 1585.

FRANKLIN GROVE TO HAVE EASTER CANTATA AS A COMMUNITY AFFAIR. REHEARSALS START ON SATURDAY

Every Singer in Village and Environs Is Invited to Participate in Great Musical Celebration of Easter

Franklin Grove — Among those from the local Church of the Brethren who attended the rally for young folks in Mr. Morris Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Buck, and daughters Lorena and Darlene, Miss Pauline Trostle, Miss Alice Willard, Kenneth Hood and Miss Barbara Group, Russell Group, Melvin and Leone Fisel, Miss Bernice Cluts and brothers Glenn and Bernell, Misses Arlene Blechley, Miss Nellie Moser, Muriel Weybright and Ida Blocher, Dallas Farringer and Claude Farringer and Miss Edna Wolf.

Mrs. Ruth M. Kelley entertained with a 6 o'clock dinner Monday evening in honor of her daughter, Miss Josephine's 13th birthday anniversary. The guests were: Mrs. Ella Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. James Conlon and daughter June. Josephine has a host of friends, both young and old who will wish her many more happy birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dierdorff and son Lytle will move soon from the east part of town, the F. D. Kelley residence, just north of the Lutheran church.

The following item taken from the proceedings of the Village Board will be of interest to everyone, and especially to those who love to come to town Saturday nights for the band concert: "Motion was made by Group and seconded by Gilbert that Neil Fox be awarded the band contract for 1934. Motion carried." Personally we feel that this will meet the approval of nearly everyone. And this assures band concert for next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vogt were in Rockford Tuesday night where they attended a surprise party for Mr. Cox, who was celebrating his birthday anniversary and also the following day he began his pension life as a retired city mail carrier of Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Taylor and family moved from the Mattern farm east of town to the place occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Canode. Nearly all of the houses which were for rent are taken.

The group of young ladies who are in the home talent play which is to be repeated next Thursday, March 8, are making plans and putting in new attractions, which will add greatly to the already splendid play.

The Methodist choir which is practicing for a cantata to be given Palm Sunday, went to Dixon Thursday night where they were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rorick. After the practice a social hour followed, during which refreshments were served. Mrs. Rorick has charge of the cantata, while Mrs. Moore has charge of the local choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Unger are moving to the Mattern farm, east of town.

The many friends of Merry Meyers, north of town will be interested in knowing that he is improving very satisfactorily.

Word from E. W. O'Neil is to the fact that he is gradually growing weaker, which will bring sadness to his large circle of friends made when he was pastor of the local Methodist church, he having served faithfully thirty-five years.

Petitions signed by 25 percent of the legal voters as required by law, have been filed with the Town Clerk, requesting that the proposition: "Shall the sale at retail of alcoholic liquor be prohibited in the township?" shall be submitted to the voters of the township at the primary election April 10th.

Ashton defeated the Franklin Grove basketball team in the game played in the old Tompkins building Monday night. The score was 22-21. It is reported as having been a good game. Carl Sunday was the high point man for the local team.

The room in which this game was played has been arranged for games and for guests, so when the next game is posted, you lovers of the basketball game can find amusement there in comfort.

Word from George Kohl, son of Herman Kohl, who has been in the CCC in Washington, states that he has "signed up" again for another term of work. Also, the good news so that he has been raised in rank so that he now is an orderly. He will be transferred 150 miles north-west to Washougal and will be at an altitude of 14,000 feet in this new location. Any news from George are always welcome and his friends here are glad to know that he likes the work.

A large number of people gathered at the depot Sunday morning and at various railroad crossings to see the new super-speed train of the Union Pacific which was taken west on a trial run. The train slowed down as it went through town.

Mrs. Louise Mattern was a Dixon visitor Tuesday.

Mrs. Charles Schmucker and Mrs. Cecil Cravens entertained with 500 Wednesday afternoon at the Craven home. Mrs. Harry Kint won first and Mrs. Raymond Jacobs second prize. During the afternoon refreshments were served to Mrs. Fred Bittendorff, Mrs. Ed Daw, Mrs. Howard Biecker, Mrs. Frank Hatch, Mrs. Harry Kint and Mrs. Raymond Jacobs, who report a very delightful afternoon spent with the hosts.

Mrs. Frank Banker entertained the members of the contract bridge club with their husbands with a 6 o'clock dinner Wednesday evening. At bridge, Mrs. Frank Senner won ladies high score and Will Crawford, gentlemen's high score. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Senner, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Brecunier and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Banker.

Mrs. I. J. Trostle entertained the Saturday and Sunday at the home of his brother, Allen Norris.

Rev. C. D. Wilson was a dinner guest Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Herrera, south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brucker, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Graves from south of town were Saturday evening guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Herwig in town.

Mrs. Selma Fruit accompanied her son, Henry to Aurora Tuesday, where she will visit a few days, then go to Evanston where she will remain for sometime at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harold Cation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reynolds moved to the Elmer Cline farm west of town made vacant by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wagner who moved to the Burhenn farm on the Chicago road. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kaufman have rented the Mrs. Grace Withey farm, where Mr. and Mrs. John Burhenn lived, the Burhenn family have rented the tenement house of Lloyd Shear.

F. H. Hansen of Chicago and John Bellezza of this place were dinner guests Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stewart.

G. W. Ling and grandchildren, Miss Esther Ling and brothers, George and Herbert were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ling near Holcomb.

Mr. and Mrs. George Knouse of Dixon were dinner guests Thursday at the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wendell east of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ragland and little daughter of Chicago are now nicely located in the tenement house of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Buck, made vacant by the Joe Reynolds family. Mr. Ragland is in the employ of Mr. Buck on the farm.

Miss Olive Spangler is visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emmert in Dixon.

A birthday surprise was held for Leslie Pankhurst recently, at their farm home, southwest of town. His wife instigated the surprise, which was complete. An elaborate birthday cake, gifts and a good time resulted for all in attendance.

Mrs. Ackerman who has been nursing in Ashton has returned to her home here.

Miss Melba Phillips entertained with dinner Sunday, Misses Dorothy Durkes, Blanche Lyford and Marie Schmidt.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spangler and family were guests at the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meyers in DeKalb.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ramsdell and son spent Tuesday night in Amboy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Barlow.

The Aid Society of the St. Paul Lutheran church will meet Thursday March 8th with Miss Nettie Gonnemann. A good attendance is desired.

District Basketball Tournament.

Franklin Grove will have their high school team at the District Tournament held at Oregon on March 7, 8, 9, and 10. Our boys will meet Leaf River in their first game on Wednesday night. The home town fans should feel proud of their team this year as they have won 8 games and only lost 3, a percentage that no other team in the county can boast of having.

Our chances of beating Leaf River are good on the basis of comparison. Five scores—should we win our next opponent would be Oregon. Wednesday's games are listed below—the admission is 25c for students and 40c for adults.

Game 1—6:00 Forrester vs. Kings.
Game 2—7:00 Ashton vs. Creston.
Game 3—8:00 Stillman Valley vs. Byron.

Game 4—9:00 Franklin Grove vs. Leaf River.
The game last Friday night with Lee and Franklin resulted in a 30 to 16 victory for the local lads. The boys played real ball and led for the whole game—Zoeller, Stultz and Vaupe were high point men.

Class Party.
The Fri-Sat. Class of the Methodist Sunday school taught by Miss Flora Wicker was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Ida Bates on Monday evening Feb. 26, 1934.

After a short business meeting conducted by the president Mrs. Evelyn Shoemaker, the remainder of the evening was spent in playing rump. Mrs. Marjorie Erickson received first prize and Miss Dorothy Durkes the consolation prize. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Marie Kint was assisting hostesses. There were twenty-three members in attendance. The next class meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Warren Mong. It was decided to entertain the husbands of the class members at some future date.

Fire Does Damage.
Just before the noon hour Tuesday the fire siren blew, and it was discovered that the fire was at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Win Wasson, known as the Zaiger place, in the east part of town. The entire roof was ablaze, sparks from the chimney causing the conflagration. Despite the splendid help and the assistance of the fire department and many volunteers the entire upper section of the dwelling was destroyed together with most of the contents of that part of the house. Had the flames gained a little more headway, the entire house would have been destroyed. This is the fourth experience this family has had with fires. Eleven years ago, the dwelling where they lived, now the Presbyterian manse, was the scene of a blaze in 1920, on July 4th, when the lumber yard and depot were consumed, the garage which Mr. Wasson operated was partly wrecked and a few months ago this winter a roof fire had just begun when they lived at the time of the present fire, and was extinguished by snowballs thrown to the roof from one son to the other. It is truly hoped that this family may not ever experience any more fire as they surely have had their share.

The family moved into the residence, known as the Loti home, north of Dr. Moore's residence.

Final Music Contest.
The date for the final music preliminary for the high school students has been set for Tuesday evening, Mar. 13 in the high school auditorium, and the public is cordially invited. Admission 10c.

Miss Esther E. Dimzang, instructor and musical director assures the community that this program will be possibly the most delightful treat that the music department has yet offered to the public, and if you really want to hear some of the best talent in Franklin Grove, you won't miss hearing this program.

Miss Dimzang deserves a great amount of credit, and these programs show her thorough training for the work. Mrs. Lester Wilhelm of Dixon needs no introduction since this is her third time to judge for us, which fact speaks for itself that she is an excellent judge and thorough musician. The entire program and names of entrants will be announced next week. The contest given by the contest, girls club and choruses will be given the latter part of March in the Presbyterian church. The date will be announced later.

students trained by Miss Dimzang, and are:

Soprano—Bernice Cluts.
Contralto—Georgia Lahman.
Alto—Lucille Yocum.
Tenor—Scott Smith.
Baritone—Donald Zoeller.
Special men's and women's choruses will also be used. The main choruses will be sung by the singers of the entire community, so that every singer is welcome. The evening and place for rehearsal will be announced Saturday evening.

High School Students in Recital.

A very interesting recital was given Thursday evening in the high school auditorium for the parents and friends of the high school students who are entering the finals March 13. The instruction has all been given by Miss Esther Dimzang, director of music, and some excellent work was shown by all the entrants showing much concentrated study and cooperation by the students. The following program was given:

Duet "Sorter Miss You" Leone Fisel and Don Zoeller.
Bass Solo "Big Bass Viol" Don Zoeller.

Soprano Solos "When Song is Sweet," "Lullaby" Muriel Weybright.
Piano Solo "Meditation" "Shepherd of Galilee" Anvil Chorus—Kenneth Wasson.

Alto Solos "Just a Wearyin' For You," "Just a Memory" Alice Willard.

Tenor Solos "A Life on the Ocean Wave," "Missouri Waltz" Earl Blecking.

Contralto Solos, "Smilin' Thru," "When the Sunset Turns the Ocean's Blue to Gold," "Our Yesterdays" Georgia Lahman.

Soprano Solos, "Lassie o' Mine," "A Bird of Roses," Leone Fisel.
Baritone Solos, "Home On the Range," "Old Black Joe," Dallas Farringer.

Alto Solos, "Memories," "When the Dew is on the Rose," Lucille Yocum.
Piano Solos, "Star of the East," "Shepherd of Galilee" Florence Blecking.

Soprano Solos, "Brown Bird Singing," "The Old Spinning Wheel," "My Song From Paradise," Bernice Cluts.

An exercise to relax, "Little Tommy Tucker," by the entire group furnished much amusement for the audience. The recital was given primarily to try some of the principles of staging before an audience and Miss Nellie Mosher kindly consented to sit for judge and receive the smiles and attentions from the musicians.

Jack Kelley, tenor, and Francis Maronde, baritone, will compete also in the final preliminary, but due to colds did not appear in recital.

Happy Birthday.

Monday, Feb. 26 the girls of the Clothing I class very thoroughly and happily surprised their teacher Miss Esther Dimzang with a scramble dinner; the occasion being her birthday. Alice Willard very effectively detained Miss Dimzang by needing a little help on a musical selection while the rest of the class proceeded to light the candles on a beautifully decorated birthday cake brought by Betty Wasson.

Miss Dimzang was so excited she could hardly control her emotions while the girls with Miss Blanche Lyford and Miss Marie Schmidt set out a bounteous scramble dinner which had been secreted in Miss Thompson's room.

Those present were: Misses Blanche Lyford, Marie Schmidt, Alice Willard, Florence Blecking, Betty Wasson, Mary Jean Miller, Dorothy Schaffer, Lida Norris, Mildred Bill, Margaret Ehlmen, Regina Guroy, Frances Ramsdell, Ida Warrenfeltz, Nelda Fuller, and Esther Dimzang.

After dinner came a second surprise when the girls presented Miss Dimzang a lovely gift. Miss Dimzang asks "It is any wonder I thoroughly enjoy my students here?"

Second Birthday Dinner Party.

In the evening a group of high school young people celebrated the birthdays of Miss Esther Dimzang and Don Zoeller with a scramble dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Weigel. The supper was very efficiently planned by Misses Helen Yocum and Norma Maronde. Miss Bertha Zoeller certainly demonstrated much artistic skill with the beautifully decorated birthday cake based by Don Zoeller. The supper was unusually tasty and appetizing, and all present did justice to it.

After supper the evening was spent at playing 500 and 500 rummy. The guests were Misses Bernice Cluts, Leone Fisel, Norma Maronde, Helen Yocum, Lucille Yocum, Alta Shriver, Lucille Buck, Bertha Zoeller, Muriel Weybright, Esther Dimzang, and Misses Melvin Fisel, Charles Phillips, Donald Zoeller, Charles Lookingland, Bernell Cluts, Scott Stultz, Russell Group and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Weigel.

At a late hour the guests departed, wishing Miss Dimzang and Don many more happy birthdays.

FERRIS HINDS NOW SAILOR ON PACIFIC TANKER

Dixon Youth Changes Ships After Six Oriental Trips

A recent letter from Ferris Hinds to his father in this city states that he has severed connection with the American Mail Line, after making six round trips aboard the S. S. President Cleveland to the Philippines via Japan and China. He is now an ordinary seaman on the S. S. Kekoskee, a "tanker" owned and operated by the Richmond Oil Co. with headquarters in Long Beach, Calif. Ferris says he had the pleasure of visiting recently with some former Dixon residents in Portland, Oregon, he called to see Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover and in Los Angeles he visited with Mrs. Bertha Boyer and family.

On his last trip to the Orient he spent a day in Nagoya, Japan, where he went sight-seeing, spending an hour in going through Nagoya castle, which he described as wonderful. In Yokohama, he toured a large part of the city on a bicycle, seeing many interesting sights which he had missed on previous visits.

Ferris says, "The U. S. A. is the best country in the world, but I hear the magic call of the East, which reminds me of the following lines from Kipling's 'Mandalay':

"If you've heard the East a-calling,
"Why you won't 'eed nothin' else,
No, you won't 'eed nothin' else,
But them spicy kiddy smells,
An' the sunshine an' the palm-trees
an' the tinkly temple bells!
On the road to Mandalay."

OREGON NEWS

By Mrs. A. Tilton

Oregon — Mrs. J. Austin Spoor was very happily surprised Thursday when a company of friends arrived at her home on North Fifth street, with well filled baskets honoring her birthday anniversary.

The condition of Z. A. Landers, who was stricken ill Tuesday is causing his family much concern. Mr. Landers has been editor and publisher of the Oregian for a period of about thirty-five years. Daily Health Talk

MIGRAINE

Migraine, which consists essentially of an incapacitating headache that is associated with disturbances in vision leads to nausea and vomiting, may occur in an individual who is in relatively good health.

It may be considered, as one authority has put it, "nature's protest against the speed with which in the last few hundred generations readjustments have had to be made to give right of way to the thinking part of our nervous mechanism, the forebrain."

Viewed in this way, migraine must be considered a protective warning to the individual, to the effect that there is something wrong with his hygiene. As a matter of fact, many victims of migraine are greatly helped by the correction of defects in their personal hygiene.

The migraine sufferer should, preferably with the help of his physician, carefully scrutinize his every-day health habits.

Many a case of migraine has been rendered reasonably comfortable through the correction of obviously erroneous modes of living. Stopping over-eating or excessive water drinking, cutting down on the hours of work, taking regular and abundant outdoor exercise, overcoming constipation, have all been known in various instances to bring great relief.

The migraine victim must seek to correct all evident constitutional disturbances or defects. Hence, defective vision, foci of infection in teeth and tonsils, disturbances in the nose, throat and sinuses, must be searched for and, if present, must be eliminated.

The medicinal treatment of migraine is complicated.

Eight-year-old PABLITO, whose father was a wealthy young Englishman and mother a servant girl, thus away from the cruel ANGELA in whose care he has been left.

Born at sea, Pablito's mother died and the child was taken to Key West, Fla., by two young Cuban girls. Their parents refused to allow them to keep the baby and placed him in the care of Angela, an old crone who beat and otherwise mistreated him.

On the night Pablito runs away he encounters NORA NYES, a mysterious individual who has seen better days. Nyes takes the boy in his shack on a lonely island.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

At 17 Pablito was 'arrestingly tall, arrestingly handsome and amazingly strong. He had absorbed much information of unrelated and interesting sorts, some of which had come to him through the mother of invention and some through Nyes.

Through Nyes he had learned many legends of other lands, a love of good books and truth and physical cleanliness and mental decency, sufficient arithmetic for practical uses, and several other things Nyes had not intended to have in the curriculum. For at the start of their association Nyes had meant to care for Pablito but in a short space the situation was reversed and Pablito was caring for Nyes — washing Nyes' clothes, cooking for him, earning the money for the food they both ate. Nyes smiled sometimes, watching Pablito's almost old womanish concern for him. Sometimes again it made his eyes fill.

And they cared deeply for each other in a masculine manner that occasionally made them very gruff.

Nyes, too, taught Pablito a loathing of sundry haunts and that the youth must be careful of how he used his strength. For one night when a stranger had spat toward Nyes, Pablito hit the stranger and it was some time before the quickly collected crowd could decide whether or not the man was dead.

Necessity had given to Pablito a wide range of human color on that palette which is called life, for his income came from "Big" Field who had a winter home, casually called a "fishing camp," on one of the Keys.

The camp was luxurious in the extreme. There was a long, low building set in a grove of royal palms which held the immense dining room and kitchen. Around this, set at discreetly separated distances, were the bungalows where were billeted the guests. There were arrangements for outdoor cooking and barbecues, popular that season, and there was a large building given over to billiard tables, wheels that spun and books. There were tiled baths and French chefs and scores of servants and motor boats and breakfast trays and a private telephone line to Field's office in New York and fresh flowers each day from a greenhouse. The sum total of all

Field had been given to Pablito by Mary Marriag's North-England grandfather.

"Where do you live?"

"On one of the small Keys, sir." "Alone?"

"Yes, sir."

This was the lie he had told ever since one night two years before when Nyes had crept, shivering and sober, into the shack to say, "Some one who knew me—saw me; some one I knew when—" and had stopped there. But ever after that, at Nyes' request, Pablito had said he lived alone. From almost the first Pablito had known that Smith was Nyes' name in public.

"Don't you want to put up here with my servants?" Field asked. "No, sir. Thank you, sir."

"Um. What's your nationality, Smith?"

"Cuban-American," Pablito answered. He and Nyes had decided this because of Pablito's yellow

Pablito hit the stranger and it was some time before the crowd could decide whether or not the man was dead.

this was much affluence and very little taste.

IN one thing only did Jim Field rarely err and that was in his estimate of people. The first time he saw Pablito he stopped to study him and the second time he saw the youth he stopped to speak to him.

"What's your name?" Field asked.

Pablito paused in his work. He had been putting cushions on a swing set up under a group of palms. "Smith, sir," he answered.

Field studied Pablito, an immensely tall boy with a heavy thatch of straw-colored hair, arrestingly blue eyes, and a hard-set, square chin that had been given him by Mary Marriag's North-England grandfather.

"Where do you live?"

"On one of the small Keys, sir." "Alone?"

"Yes, sir."

This was the lie he had told ever since one night two years before when Nyes had crept, shivering and sober, into the shack to say, "Some one who knew me—saw me; some one I knew when—" and had stopped there. But ever after that, at Nyes' request, Pablito had said he lived alone. From almost the first Pablito had known that Smith was Nyes' name in public.

"Don't you want to put up here with my servants?" Field asked. "No, sir. Thank you, sir."

"Um. What's your nationality, Smith?"

"Cuban-American," Pablito answered. He and Nyes had decided this because of Pablito's yellow hair and the daughter of Villaverde y Blanco.

Field grinned slowly. "If you're Cuban," he remarked, "I'm an Eskimo." Then he added, "If you have any idea of leaving my employ let me speak to you before you go."

"Yes, sir. Thank you." Pablito set to arranging cushions again and Field strolled on. The boy had been reared, Field decided, by some one of breeding. He spoke well. He held himself well. He was neither abashed by Field nor abashed before him. Evidently the boy—youth as he was—had done something that had dropped him from his natural world to make him hide among servants.

Now Field had had uses for many types of men and the thought of Pablito's being under a cloud did not displease him. "I could use him, perhaps, in Cuba," he thought. "If my guess is right he could be controlled. A little fear is the best crack of the whip."

The sea that day was a gray-lashed fury, touched to white by the beat of the wind, but Field did not see it. He was thinking of weak points, of the fact that everyone has them and that they are easier to deal with than a price. He would have Smith watched and find the weak link in this evidently strong chain. Then he would keep his short, blunt-fingered hand on the weak link as he used the chain.

Pablito's youth and appearance were factors that Field needed. It would be simple to bind him after his reason for hiding was located. Field moved on toward his office where he spoke with Juan Alvarez, sinuous Spaniard. "Alvarez," he said, "I want to know the history of that boy, Smith, whom the women like to have in their boat when they pretend to fish. He says he lives on one of these small Keys alone but I think he does not live alone."

"Few men do," Alvarez ventured with a rather oily smile.

To this Field made no response. "Do you know him?" he asked. Alvarez did not. "He's blond," Field went on, "and he's near the east cottage now. Go look at him—"

Alvarez wandered out in a casual, careless manner that increased Field's trust in him.

PABLITO had seen Field often from a distance and had heard the servants talking of him. Field, they said, was bad and powerful. He had moments of kindness which alternated with his hours of cruelties. Of money he was a king. His wife, who had been faded to a wisp of languor by a few short years with him, now lived in Paris. There was a daughter who lived with her mother. Field was benevolent to those in need. Those women who visited the camp, between staid parties given to business associates, were always richly dressed and beautiful. But of them there was no need to speak; it was all so apparent.

Once Field had close to killed a man who had mistreated a horse and once again he had close to killed a man who had interfered with his beating of a horse that would not take a hurdie.

Field had much land in Cuba. He owned many of the biggest sugar plantations and he was against Sancho Obispo who was in Cuba a power. Pablito listened languidly. The endless gossip bored him.

One night he said to Nyes of Field, "He is rotten. I would like to have money in order to spend it well."

"All that is necessary to achievement," Nyes stated as he lighted a cigaret, "is to want one thing enough." There was a moment's hesitation and something like remembered fear flashed in his weak eyes. Then he went on, "But be careful about what you want."

ALONE, Field picked up his letters to find among them one postmarked Paris. He smiled a little. He had known he could bring Norma to time.

He slit the envelope and took out the folded sheet inside. The letter began abruptly:

"Since you say Estelle will have nothing of that which is rightfully hers unless I come back with her to live in the same house with you we will come. But I ask you, because of the child, to mend your ways a little—at least on the surface. She is very sweet; quite big now. You will be surprised to see her. I have told her nothing of all that made me put the Atlantic between us."

Field read on, smiling. Suddenly he laid down the letter and his smile faded. He had an intense hunger to see the child who was "quite big now" and "very sweet."

SHARPshooters CLOSED SEASON WITH DUAL WIN

Both Teams are Victorious at Rochelle Friday Evening

By Bradley Moll
The Dixon basketball squads wound up their season in great style last night by taking both of their games at Rochelle, winning the lightweight game after a very thrilling battle by the score of 14-10, and taking the heavyweight game by the comfortable margin of 21 to 8.

Before a fairly good crowd, the Dixon boys showed their true mettle and came through with some of their usual basketball. The game was very hotly contested by the Rochelle players and fans, and as much as it was their last conference game they felt that it would be a successful climax to their season to take the invading Dixon team. The games were characterized by the customary yelling and loyal display of the ardent fans, both of Dixon and of Rochelle, the former following being on deck in spite of the bad weather conditions, and the heavy fog which blanketed the highway and slowed up the inter-city traffic.

The Rochelle boys played tough luck on their shots, and made a rather poor showing on their field goals, of which in percentage to their number of tries looked pretty shady. Their free throw average was considerably higher than that of the Dixon teams who shot a pretty high percentage of their throws. In open play the Rochelle boys looked a great deal better than they did on the local court, but it is doubtful as to their improving enough to give the locals a good fight.

Dixon gave some more of their brilliant passing attacks and in spite of some faux pas they handled the ball in great style. Dixon in other words really showed their true colors, and have given some promise for the coming tournament to be held next week.

Slipped Up on Free Throws
Dixon broke up on free throws at the right time, and in general played good basketball, bringing in the entire team and keeping possession of the ball a greater percentage of the time.

In the lightweight game Dixon had a decided advantage, making six field goals to their opponents one, but they slipped up on their fouls, and free throws, giving Rochelle the advantage on that score. The entire lightweight game was Dixon, and the local "B" team outscored their opponents in three of the periods, looking a little ragged in the final quarter. Dixon in that game made 50% of their free throws, while Rochelle made 66%, which gave them the necessary momentum to creep up somewhere near Dixon. The most exciting part of that contest was in the first part of the last quarter, when the Rochelle boys got down to business and really put forth some effort. The game approached the bitter strife of another type of contest, and so hotly did the contest, wage that two members of the respective teams decided to settle the controversy in a regular John L. Sullivan manner, much to the dismay of the referee, who promptly told the boys where to head in at, and sent them on their way.

Improved Standing
Although the heavyweight game lacked the intense feeling that the minor conflict had, still it was a worthwhile game from the spectators' angle, and improved the conference standing of the Dixon team. The opening moments of play saw the Rochelle boys go into the lead for the only time during the game which they held for but a short time. With Rochelle in the lead Henry of Dixon swished a couple of free throws and tied up the score which he was broken on the second throw. McKekeren of Rochelle tied up the score by tossing in a free throw, and in spite of the enthusiasm the tight game soon approached the Dixon lead when Rebeck swished a long shot and broke the final tie of the game, which in the second quarter put an end to the hopes of the Rochelle fans. The score at the end of the first period was 4-4 and at that time the Rochelle enthusiasts were certain of a real game. Their hopes were quickly broken however for at the half Dixon led by seven points, the score at that time being 12-5. The game still resolved itself into a battle royal and the third period saw the defenders coming closest to the Dixon lead in scoring when they made three points to the four of the Dixon boys. The final period saw Dixon in another burst for five points, holding their foe down to a shut-out.

The last game of the season was highly satisfactory to the locals and they returned home with a dual win. In the major game Dixon took the lead in the free-throw making 62% of their attempts, while Rochelle made but 44%, which is a good consistent average to shoot, but in the case of this game did not suffice to net them the desired amount of points. In field goals the Dixon boys also showed up the defenders by making seven to the two of the Rochelle boys. The data on the two games:

Athletics Playing Baseball in Camp

Fort Myers, Fla., Mar. 3—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics are playing baseball already.
In the first full day of training Connie Mack divided them into the "A's" and the "B's" and let them go to it for five innings. With each side using five pitchers, the A's came out victorious, 8 to 2.
No Simmons, Haas, Dykes, Grove, Fox and Higgins showed their prowess. The need for cash has sent the first five elsewhere; Fox and Higgins are holdouts; Johnson and Warster still are on their way to the camp and Kline is in Columbus, Ohio, with a broken elbow.
George Detore, who took Pinky Higgins' place in the infield, was the bright spot of the day. He introduced himself with a two-bagger and followed through with consistent play.

CANADIAN BIKE RACER HOPES TO STAR A BROTHER

Torchy Peden Was Loud
In Praise of His
Kid Brother

New York, March 3—(AP)—William (Torchy) Peden, the mild-mannered Canadian six-day bike rider, was an ambition that's far beyond winning the current 144-hour grand which closes tonight in Madison Square Garden. He's looking ahead to the time when there'll be a team of Pedens, the other half being his kid brother, Sandy.

During an hour's respite while his little Italian partner, Franco Georgetti, carried on for the team, the 216-pounder who is rated the best of the present-day pedal-pushers, spoke enthusiastically of his brother.
"Boy, he's Mercury on wheels and he's got plenty of endurance," he said excitedly. Torchy himself is no slow freight. He's pedaled in 43 races, winning 19 of them, in four years.

"Sandy is just 20 years old, eight years younger than I am," he continued. "He's been cycling for five years now and is one of the best amateurs in Canada."

Coming Slowly
"I'm bringing him along slowly and expect he will qualify for the British games in England next summer. I expect to go along as coach of the Canadian team. After that I'm going to train him for the 1936 Olympics and then he's going to turn professional and pair up with me in the six-day racing game."

"It may sound boyish but I can hardly wait until Sandy and I can get into one of these races. We're going to keep plugging together until we win at least a couple of them. By that time I expect to have enough money salted away to quit the business and let Sandy look to preserving the Peden cycling honors."

"How about the 'racket,' does it pay?" he was asked.
"Well, let's see. I've been riding about four years, and this is my 44th race. I would guess I've made about $50,000."

At any rate it's enough to buy a 67-acre farm near Marietta, Ohio, where he plans to build a log cabin—"you know, the kind one dreams about"—grow vegetables on about 15 acres of it.

"Thinking about living there has helped me keep awake during the slow periods in this race," he said.

BIG TEN CAGE TEAMS NEARING FINAL BATTLES

Second Place is Only
Issue in Remaining Contests

Chicago, March 3—(AP)—The business of distributing Big Ten basketball's minor prizes will be pursued tonight, with Northwestern and Wisconsin working on their bids for second place.
Purdue has the championship safely tucked away, but meets its traditional rival, Indiana, at Lafayette. Northwestern plays at Chicago. Iowa meets Wisconsin at Madison, while Ohio State closes its season against Notre Dame at South Bend.

The champion Boiler-makers still have things to accomplish. They will be out to maintain their average of 43 points a game, as well as seeking another victory over the Hoosiers. In their first meeting Purdue went to Bloomington and swamped Indiana, 47 to 13. Norm Cotton, Purdue's scoring ace, will resume his firing for the individual point-getting title.

The Northwestern-Chicago game will be the finale for both teams. The Wildcats must win to be assured of at least a tie for second place. Chicago hopes to duplicate its earlier triumph over the Wildcats. On that occasion, Bill Haarlow, Maroon sophomore forward, set a season high scoring mark of 21 points.

Wisconsin, which will finish its season Monday, must defeat Iowa tonight to remain in the battle for second place. Iowa won their first encounter, but figures to have a more difficult task tonight, meeting the Badgers on their own floor.

BAER CAN LICK CARNERA TOMMY LOUGHRAN SAYS

And Great Philadelphia
Scrappier Thinks He Can Do It Too

Miami, Fla., March 3—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, the only major heavyweight who has fought the pair of them, believes that Max Baer will knock out Primo Carnera if the two of them ever meet in a heavyweight title match.
"That prediction," says Loughran, "is based on the possibility that Baer can get into shape again that he was on the night he knocked out Max Schmeling last summer."

"I don't think Baer will give up his outside interests to fight for a challenger's percentage in June," Tommy said. "He'll want to have tremendous time whipping himself into shape for a Carnera match. And besides I want that chance myself. I want another shot at Carnera in June. This time I'll lick him as surely as we're sitting here."

Wasted Courage
Loughran realizes now that he wasted a great deal of courage that got him nothing but praise-worthy lines in the papers when he tried to slug it out with Carnera Thursday night in a match in which he was outwitted 86 pounds—the greatest margin any one heavyweight ever conceded to another in the history of title matches.

"I was overconfident," the 144 pound Loughran confessed. "I thought I could handle him in the clinches, along the ropes, and in the corners. But I was wrong. If I had stayed in the center of the ring, boxing him, I'd have won the fifteen round decision."
Loughran, because he was able to hit Carnera frequently with his right hand, believes that Baer, a terrific right hand puncher, could do the same.

NOTICE!

I have found that most people who buy coal have a good idea of the definite coal fields, knowing the quality of each. They seem to care nothing about our fancy names. What they want is what field—what mine does it come from. So we have tried in our advertising to explain where each coal originates, what field it comes from and we intend in every case to have the best coal coming from its respective field.

PEOPLE'S ECONOMY—Mined in Illinois. We have constant reorders.

HARRISBURG LUMP and HARRISBURG FURNACE—Southern Illinois. Joins the Franklin County. The same field... We think a better coal.

EAST KENTUCKY—Mary Helen, the well known Harlan field.

As low in price as any coals of equal quality from their respective fields.

KINDLING—Cut up and split ready for use.

We require our deliverymen to take every pains. Do a neat job in putting the coal in the basement and leave the customer pleased and satisfied with the service. Anyone that does not get this service from us please call us on the phone.

High Chair Ring Championships to be Decided Today

Miami, Fla., Mar. 3—(AP)—Pugilists three to twelve years old pulled on boxing gloves today to do battle for the high chair championships. Their wealthy parents crowded ringside tea tables to watch the battlers cuff each other to the tune of a dance orchestra.
Tommy Loughran, no stranger to the prize rings, was called to judge the one-minute bouts. The fighters were classified in the following weight divisions: nitweight, gnatweight, paperweight and heavyweight.
The only girl entrant, Connie Willis, 3, bragged that she would clean house in her class. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Willis of New York, and a relative of Mrs. James A. Roosevelt.

The sun deck of a fashionable hotel was the scene of the high chair championships.

Conference Track Stars Get Action

Washington, March 3—(AP)—Western Conference track stars assembled today for four meets as dress rehearsals to the 24th annual indoor championship test next Saturday at the University of Chicago fieldhouse.

Michigan, the perennial favorite, was at Chicago to send its well balanced squad against Northwestern and Chicago in a triangular affair this afternoon. Ohio State, which tied Northwestern for first place in a quadrangular meet which also involved Chicago and Wisconsin last week, was at South Bend, Ind., for a meet with Notre Dame.

Indiana, winner of the 1933 indoor title, and Illinois, were scheduled for a dual meet at Champaign, while Wisconsin meets Minnesota at Minneapolis.

FORMER COACH AT YALE WILL HANDLE VIOLETS

Mal Stevens Signed by
New York University
for One Year

New York, March 3—(AP)—New York University has turned to Dr. Marvin A. (Mal) Stevens to lead the Violets out of the football wilderness.

The 34-year-old veteran of ten years' coaching experience at Yale was named head football coach at N. Y. U. by the Board of Athletic Control last night. He signed a one-year contract calling for a salary believed to be around $7,500.

Stevens' appointment came as a big surprise for it had been thought that Arthur H. (Arch) Roberts, present freshman coach, held the inside track for the job made vacant by the resignation on Feb. 1 of Howard (Jake) Cann.

Head coach at Yale from 1928 through 1932, Stevens now is an instructor in orthopedics, surgery and gynecology at Yale Medical School of which he is a graduate, and also is a member of the staff of new Haven hospital.

Dr. Stevens will take over his new duties as soon as weather conditions permit the holding of spring practice.

The new head coach will arrive on the scene at a time when N. Y. U.'s football fortunes are at a low ebb than they have been for many years. The Violets' poor season in 1933—they won only two games—and the resultant criticism from undergraduates and alumni were the chief factors in Cann's resignation.

BAD POST ACTOR

The job of assistant starter at a race track isn't all peaches and cream. There is Joe Nelson, who holds that job at Agua Caliente, braving the threat of flying feet in trying to pacify "Prince Bow" at the start of a race at the Mexican track.
